

Polka-dot Wasp Moth

Scientific name: Syntomeida epilais

The colouring of these moths make them look a bit like wasps. This is called mimicry. It means that animals who might hunt them may mistake the moths for wasps that sting, so leave them alone.

